Camas native pianist Gregory Partain headlines Clark College Sunday concert

Gregory Partain, Camas native, who has toured the Americas and Europe as a pianist, is the featured soloist for the Clark College Orchestra 7:30 p.m. Sunday, June 8, concert in the Royal Durst Theatre of the Vancouver Arts and Academics, 3101 Main Street.

A composer as well as a pianist, Partain earned a bachelors degree in piano performance from the University of Washington. His doctorate is from the University of Texas.

The orchestra is under the direction of Donald Lawrence Alpert. There is no charge, but contributions to the Clark College Music Scholarship will be accepted at the door.

Fire District 5 paramedic education program gets national accreditation

Clark County Fire District 5's paramedic training program has been awarded accreditation from the national Commission on Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs. CAAHEP provides accreditation in 21 health professions.

The accreditation coincides with a recent Clark College partnership that provides paramedic students with up to 65 credit hours toward an associates degree in applied science. Degreed students can also take a written exam to receive national registry as paramedics.

The year-long courses are taught in District 5's Northwest Regional Training Center in Orchards.

Library board trustees to hold two-day retreat at Goldendale

The Fort Vancouver Regional Library District board of trustees is holding a two-day retreat Monday, June 9, and Tuesday, June 10, in the Goldendale Community Library.

Except for an opening executive session at 11 a.m. Monday, the retreat is open to the public. A discussion of the proposed Greater Vancouver Libraries bond issue is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Daily Insider editor does it again—goofs

Those who may wonder how Mike Price feels; how Rich Neuheisel feels, or Sammy Sosa or Martha Stewart? Look no farther than the editor's desk of the Daily Insider, the occupant of which yesterday in the Town Tabloids reported that Nancy Taylor had become Mrs. Ty Wells. (Nancy Taylor is not in bold face because the editor does not know a Nancy Taylor). The person the editor does know is Nancy Parker, who in fact two weeks ago did exchange vows with Mr. Wells and thus and happily became Mrs. Ty Wells.

Mr. Wells is chef and owner of Allesandro's Italian Restaurant and Bar, 310 SW Morrison Street, Portland. Mrs. Nancy Parker Wells is manager of the Child and Family Program of Columbia River Mental Health Services.

The editor of the Daily Insider, who feels terrible, wishes Mr. and Mrs. Wells a much brighter future.
