Craig Walker named Senior Messenger editor

Craig Walker

Craig Walker, manager of FlashNews.net, has been named editor of the Senior Messenger, the City of Vancouver newspaper distributed free to over 14,000 senior citizens.

Walker, whose FlashNews.net provides news distribution for organizations and businesses, including all school districts in the Vancouver-Portland metropolitan area, formerly worked in marketing for Hewlett-Packard and in community relations for several school districts.

He succeeds Diane Wagner, who retired after 13 years and over 150 issues.

Originally funded by a federal grant in 1973, the 30-year-old newspaper is supported by advertising revenue and donations from readers. While aimed at readers 50 and up, the newspaper is available to anyone in Clark, Skamania and Klickitat Counties at no charge. For further information, call 696-8077.

Hancock Forest Management moving Northwest Division to Vancouver

Hancock Forest Management, forest management subsidiary of Hancock Timber Resource Group, the world's largest timberland investment manager for institutional investors, has selected Vancouver for its northwest regional headquarters, reports Bart Phillips, president of the Columbia River Economic Development Counsel.

Says regional manager Bill Marre: "Vancouver offers a lot of advantages. It's centrally located in our western operating region. Travel is easy because Vancouver is next door to an international airport and at a hub in the interstate highway system. It also has the quality of life that enables us to attract the outstanding people we want in our firm."

The HFM office is at 1499 SE Tech Center Place, Suite 250, in the 360-acre Columbia Tech Center in east Vancouver

Riverview Six to Sunset concerts returning to Esther Short Park

The dance and show band, 5 Guys Named Moe, opens the Riverview Six to Sunset Concert series in Esther Short Park at 6 p.m. Thursday, July 10.

There is no admission charge for the popular series, which is sponsored by Riverview Community Bank, the Columbian and the City of Vancouver.

Each concert is on a Thursday evening and begins at 6 p.m. Blankets and beach chairs are recommended. Food and beverage vendors will be in the park. Alcohol and barbecues are prohibited.
