Traffic expert to discuss economic cost of congestion on the I-5 Interstate bridge

The results of a study, commissioned by the Oregon Department of Transportation on the economic effects of congestion on the Interstate-5 Columbia River crossing, will be presented at a breakfast meeting at 7 a.m. Thursday, May 8, in the Red Lion Hotel at the Quay.

Lance Grenzbach, senior vice president of Cambridge Systematics, the transportation planning, economics, and consulting firm that conducted the study, will discuss the impact of traffic congestion on the Columbia River crossing on key Washington-Oregon industries.

Although the $25 breakfast meeting is sponsored by the Greater Vancouver Chamber of Commerce, the public is invited to attend, according to chamber president John McKibbin.

For further information, call 694-2588.

Clark Public Utilities getting good marks

From its most recent customer satisfaction survey, Clark Public Utilities found that 96 percent of its customers who have had recent contact with the utility (other than paying bills) were satisfied with the results.

The sampling of customers found also that 98 percent were satisfied with the utility on the whole.

When asked what the utility could do better, 18 percent responded, "Lower electric rates."

Utility spokesperson Shirley Skidmore says the survey results track well with past surveys.

Summer Inventors Camp being sponsored by the Evergreen School District in July

The Evergreen School District is sponsoring a five-day national summer camp that encourages youngsters to develop creative abilities.

Camp Invention is a project of the National Inventors Hall of Fame and is presented in partnership with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

Open to children entering the second grade or in school through the sixth grade, Camp Invention lets science come alive as children participate in interactive activities, according to spokesperson Sandy Leach.

The camp will be in the Illahee Elementary School, 19401 SE 1st Street, Camas from July 28 through August 1. The cost is $190 and includes snacks and a T-shirt.

To register call (800) 968-4332, or for further information, call Sandy Leach, Evergreen's manager of community education.

John Hancock Sports Court to be dedicated by View Ridge Middle School students Friday

View Ridge Middle School students will honor former principal John Hancock by dedicating the new sports court in his name at 1:30 p.m. Friday, May 9.

The sports court was completed in time for the current school year. Hancock, who had been in on the groundwork behind the project, did not live to see it completed, dying of cancer at the age of 55.

A teacher and administrator for 25 years, Hancock joined the Ridgefield School District in 1999.

Hancock's wife, Martha, who works for the school district, will be present at the dedication at 510 Pioneer Street.
