Aggressive job training program gets airing

An aggressive program that will direct people and dollars into training programs for job categories in need of workers will be discussed at a strategic planning session of the Southwest Washington Workforce Development Council at 2 p.m. Thursday, June 5, in the Rose Besserman room at the Fisher's Landing Transit Center.

The new focus of SWWDC, which provides job training in Clark, Cowlitz, Skamania and Wahkiakum Counties, is on business as the customer, according to executive director Lisa Nisenfeld.

The new plan seeks to channel job seekers into the most promising available family wage jobs through training and skills enhancement.
