

Lewis and Clark's travels through Clark County to be recalled during dinner at Clark College

Lewis and Clark Corps of Discovery expedition members ate pretty well, at least some of the time, if the commemorative Lewis & Clark Dinner menu is a reliable sample.

Here's what attendees at the 6 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 4, $30 dinner and "casual fun-filled" evening in Gaiser Hall at Clark College get: smoked turkey with sausage and dried cranberry stuffing, roasted new potatoes with caramelized onions, three varieties of golden squash, corn, rustic breads, mixed fall greens with buttermilk and chive dressing, bow-tie pasta with smoked salmon garnished with watercress and filberts, cranberry apple salad with golden raisins and raspberry almond tart.

The dinner, to which the public is "cordially invited," is sponsored by the Vancouver Clark County Lewis and Clark Committee. It will be prepared by the Clark College Culinary Arts Department.

The evening program includes a one-woman show by Myrna DeBolt, as Meriwether Lewis's mother, Lucy Meriwether Marks. In addition, plans for new pedestrian and bicycle paths that follow some Lewis and Clark events that are being developed for Vancouver and Clark County will be presented.

Lewis and Clark spent 12 days in what is now Clark County during their trip downriver on the Columbia River in 1805. According to journals by the explorers, this area was "the only desired situation for a settlement on the west side of the Rocky Mountains."

Rocketshop to take lease 6th floor office in Vancouvercenter

Rocketshop, Vancouver advertising and public relations agency, will lease nearly 6,000 square feet of office space on the sixth floor of the newly completed Vancouvercenter north tower, reports Dana Larson, one of the company's founders and vice president and chief marketing officer. The company was formed in Vancouver in 2000 and is expected to expand its 14-member staff when the move to Vancouvercenter is completed in the first quarter of 2005.

Rocketshop is the fourth commercial tenant in the $100 million downtown mixed use project across Columbia Street from Esther Short Park. Other tenants are Otak, an engineering firm working with Vandevco Limited, developers of the Vancouvercenter, Hilton Hotels and Management Recruiters.

Vancouvercenter covers two blocks with 194 apartments, 68 condominiums and 165,000 square feet of class A office and retail space.

A live call-in program, Homework Helpline is hosted by students from schools who have access to Internet and other electronic resources to help callers answer questions.

The show is cablecast on Comcast Channel 28. The call-in telephone number is 896-4357.

The treat is in the trick; don't change clocks until Sunday night

Horological expert Tauf Charneski advises that it is a waste of time, by at least an hour, to reset clocks one hour back Saturday, Oct. 30, in commemoration of the return to standard time Sunday, Oct. 31.

Rather, Charneski says: "Churchgoers should remember to go to church an hour early, Sunday, according to un-reset clocks. Others need bother with that step. In preparation for retirement, Sunday evening all should set clocks back one hour and then savor the extra hour on Monday morning before going to work."
