Chamber luncheon with Patty Murray still on

The first of the Greater Vancouver Chamber of Commerce Advocacy Forum series featuring U.S. Sen. Patty Murray (D-Wash.), the state's senior senator and ranking member of the Senate Transportation and Employment Committee, will go on as scheduled at noon, Wednesday, Jan. 7, in the Heathman Lodge, according to Addison Jacobs, the chamber's vice president.

Murray's appearance was rescheduled for tomorrow due to key Senate votes in November.

The chamber's Advocacy Forum series is open to the public and is designed to give community members an early warning of governmental issues affecting business and the southwest Washington community.

Pre-registration is required for the $30 luncheon. Call 694-2588 for further information.

Blizzard disconnects garbage service

One of the casualties of today's snowstorm is garbage service in most of Clark County, which was canceled today.

The result of this, according to Anita Largent, Clark County Solid Waste manager, those affected customers will have to wait until their next scheduled pick-up day for collection to resume. However, Largent says, customers may set out double the amount of garbage, recycling and yard debris on that day.

The areas affected are all of rural Clark County, Vancouver, Battle Ground, La Center, Ridgefield and Yacolt.

If bad weather continues, Largent warns, Wednesday service may also be cancelled.

County's Public Service Center gets official green building certification

Clark County's Public Service Building, the largest governmental structure in southern Washington, has earned the prestigious green building certification by the U.S. Green Building Council.

The award for having achieved energy efficiency and environmental sensitivity will be presented to county commissioners this week.

The $33 million, six-story, 163,000-square-foot building, completed in December 2002, was designed by Barrentine. Bates. Lee A.I.A.

Its design and construction achieved 29 specific requirements to get certification.

Moreover, the building is 22 percent more energy efficient and 20 percent more water-use efficient than comparable buildings.

This translates into an annual savings of $17,000 in energy and water costs, according to Pete Capell, county director of public works.
