Cowlitz Tribe holding informational meeting in La Center Thursday

Cowlitz Tribal officials have scheduled a 7 p.m. Thursday, May 13, meeting in the La Center Community Center, 1000 E 4th Street, to answer questions and provide information on their application for trust status of 152 acres near the La Center junction. Also up for discussion is the environmental assessment.

The tribe's application is before the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

The City of La Center, dependent largely for tax revenue from licensed card rooms, opposes the trust land status, fearing that competition from an Indian gambling casino could reduce city taxes by as much as 60 percent.

Rosemere Neighborhood Association sets water legacy event in Hazel Dell

Although by city council action earlier this year the Rosemere Neighborhood Association no longer represents the Rosemere neighborhood as an official organization, its members continue to hold meetings; and, from 7 to 10 p.m. Friday, May 14, the organization will present a water legacy event in the Hazel Dell Grange, 7509 NE Hazel Dell Avenue.

The association has long been a critic of the city's policy on conversion of septic tanks to city sewer service in the Rosemere area through which Burnt Bridge Creek drains.

Friday's program, in addition to live music and free refreshments, includes presentations on local water quality issues by Thom McConathy, Clark County Natural Resource Council, and Carl Addy, Addy Lab.

Informational exhibits and displays from various governmental and environmental organizations will also be part of the event.

The event, the first in a series, according to spokesperson Karen Axell, is free.
