

Pat Stryker named development director for Columbia River Mental Health Services

Pat Stryker has been appointed development and community relations director for Columbia River Mental Health Services, CRMHS executive director John Magnano announced today.

Stryker is a former executive director of the YWCA of Clark County, director of property and development for the Port of Vancouver, and director of governmental relations for Red Lion Hotels and Inns.

CRMHS is southern Washington's largest mental health agency, providing a wide range of services for children, adults and the elderly.

C-TRAN's Summer Blast Passes give mobility to kids on summer vacation

Summer Blast bus passes, for persons 18 years of age and younger, that last the entire summer school vacation, can be bought from C-TRAN for $36.

The passes give unlimited rides on all C-TRAN and TriMet buses, and MAX light rail.

In addition, C-TRAN and Vancouver-Clark Parks and Recreation have formed partnerships with a number of merchants for sandwich and pizza deals, and weekday movie matinees that are either free or are $1 each.

For further information, call C-TRAN customer service, 695-0123.

City's 2004 Overlay Program set to begin

Storm drain work and patching are beginning in some city neighborhoods as Vancouver gets its annual Overlay Program underway.

This year the city will spend up to $2 million resurfacing city streets in eight neighborhoods.

New asphalt surfaces will be laid on some streets in the Northwest, Bagley Downs, Ogden, Kevanna Park, Burnt Bridge Creek, North Image, North Garrison Heights and Vancouver Heights Neighborhoods.

Residents will be notified in advance of these projects.

Vancouver, Portland cyclists joining three-week celebration of bicycling

The opening event of a three-week celebration of bicycling in Vancouver and Portland called, Pedal Palooza, begins at 3:30 p.m. Thursday, June 17, at the north end of the Interstate Bridge in downtown Vancouver.

Until 6:30 p.m. bicyclists will be treated to free juice, milk, bagels, fruit, brochures, and maps.

On Friday, June 18, from 6 to 10 a.m. the same freebies will be distributed at the end of the bicycle path at the north end of the I-205 bridge at Highway 14.

On Saturday, June 19, bicyclists will meet at the Vancouver Farmers Market for a ride across the Interstate Bridge to the TriMet MAX stop at the Expo Center, where they can load their bikes on MAX for the $4 round trip to downtown Portland.

For further information, call Todd Boulanger, 696-8290.
