

Vancouver Symphony opens 30th season with Haydn's great trumpet concerto

The Vancouver Symphony Orchestra, directed by Salvador Brotons, opens its 30th season with Joseph Haydn's Trumpet Concerto in E flat major, at 3 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 15, and 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 16, in the Skyview High School concert hall, 1300 NW 139th Street.

Guest soloist for the Haydn piece is John Daniel, associate professor of music at Lawrence University, where he teaches trumpet. He served as principal trumpet with the San Angelo Symphony Orchestra and Abilene Philharmonic Orchestra for nine years and has performed with the San Antonio Symphony.

The opening series also presents Felix Mendelssohn's Symphony No. 5 in D Major, op. 107, the "Reformation" Symphony, and Franz Schubert's Symphony No. 8 in B minor, the so-called "Unfinished" Symphony.

A one-hour lecture by Travis Hatton, music director of the Vancouver Children's Opera, precedes each concert.

Tickets are $36 for reserved seating, $27 for general admission, $22 for seniors and $7 for students. For further information, call 735-7278.
